New skyline in Brussels

"Will the architecture of the Capital of Europe really be made of the same sculptural buildings as was in the 19th century? Or will it be made of the same economic hot spots of the 21st century? Dubai to China? Or could we have a vision worthy of Brussels' rich history and Europe's daring political project? Europe's architecture should be conceived as a coherent network of public spaces in the city region that makes Brussels itself into an expression of what Europe should be."
